

Sending Mail to

Brownsea 22 – NYLT Participants

One of the joys of attending a Boy Scout Youth Leadership Training Conference is receiving mail from home, especially a gift package or letters with extra pocket money for the NYLT Trading Post. Scouts really look forward to “mail call” each day. Receiving multiple letters throughout the week is always a welcome treat. Mail from home so significantly enhances the camping experience that we suggest you encourage grandparents and others to send mail to your Scout while he is with us at Brownsea 22 - NYLT.

Avoid possible disappointment: MAIL EARLY

- Mail is unusually slow arriving at mountain resort communities; therefore, we suggest mailing letters and packages just before or the same day your Scout leaves for NYLT.
- Mail sent AFTER TUESDAY during the week your Scout is at NYLT has only a small chance of arriving at the Cedar Glen Post Office by Friday morning when mail is picked-up for the last mail call of the week.
- Some people have resolved the narrow time frame for mail delivery by sending a bundle of letters well in advance with instructions to deliver a specified letter to their Scout each day during his stay at NYLT.
- If mail arrives early, it will be held for your Scout's arrival – late mail arrivals will be returned.

Suggestions for what to send:

- Extra pocket money for drinks, snacks and shopping at the NYLT Trading Post is always appreciated.
- Dried fruit, nuts, chips, granola bars, jerky, trail mix, packaged juice drinks, and candy all work well.
- Brownies, cookies, and other baked goods are always joyously received.

Avoid sending highly perishable items and items that may be prone to melt (i.e. chocolate candy).
